Writing

Inverted commas (speech marks)

When you are writing, inverted commas (also called speech marks) go before and after any words that a character says (known as direct speech).

For example: "I'm hungry," complained Goldilocks.

Direct speech

reporting clause

- If another character replies, the rule is to use another set of inverted commas and put the new person speaking on a new line.

For example:

"There's some porridge on the stove," said her mum.

"But I've already had some porridge today!" exclaimed Goldilocks.

- Any punctuation goes inside the inverted commas at the end of what the character is saying.

Activity 1

Rewrite this conversation between Dani and her father, adding in the missing inverted commas.

Remember: Whenever a new person starts talking, you must move onto a new line.

How did you get mud all the way up to your knees? Dani's father asked, with a frown.

I met a dragon in the wood on the way home exclaimed Dani. We went on a big adventure!

I suppose you'll tell me you were fighting giants next! her father said, with a wink.

And wizards and witches said Dani smiling. We won!

Tenths

An Extract from Howard Carter's Diary

4th November 1922

11 After the discovery of the first step, we exposed fifteen more
20 steps leading down to an ancient doorway, still sealed
31 after all these years. The name on the door was clear:
41 Tutankhamen. They say this tomb is cursed; they say that 49 the ancient pharaoh threatened anyone who disturbed his
62 peace in the afterlife but that will not stop me. For five years
72 we have been digging through the inhospitable desert and I
80 am finally about to make the most important
87 discovery of my life. At last, I
94 will be the one to unearth the
99 final resting place of Egypt's
102 youngest pharaoh. It
106 will be filled with
108 treasures beyond
110 anyone's wildest
111 dreams.
